good design

design balances all aspects of its form to engage the audience and to serve a function.

this design represents the design definition because it is balanced symmetrically and the form is simple so it engages the audience and it serves a function provide light.