

Defining Design

Design balances all aspects of its form to engage the audience and to serve a function.

This computer chair demonstrates good design because it is aesthetically pleasing, It looks like it would be comfortable to sit in, It has you can adjust the bend in it so that you can sit up or lay down and it has a computer monitor stand built in to it.

Jordan Lynch